With planted longleaf pine timber that can be straw raked, this is an income producing timber tract that also has great hunting potential!

Located on Collins Drive near Lumberton in Robeson County North Carolina, this tract features planted longleaf pine timber that can be raked for straw! You can set up a deer stand in the back and have plenty of deer to hunt while you watch your timber grow. Tenmile Branch runs along the back of the tract to provide a water source for wildlife. There is flooded timber along the branch that will bring in some ducks. Lumberton is only 10 minutes away.
